shaded the effect on the country by making this significant statement:

I believe myself that Gov. Hill is not an idiot for olive, and that he thinks twice before he has practice in the center of his state. He is bound to work for success a year hence. I do not make great doubt more at his present time that he will hold the New England states in his power. National Democratic Convention to be held in Boston again, and he will make the nomination stand, and he will make the nomination stand.

We may therefore be prepared to see the career of Gov. Hill brought to a speedy close.

Insurance in the District.

In every state and territory of the Union there is some law protecting the citizens in the insurance they pay for, either on their property or lives. We believe the District of Columbia is the only exception to this rule, as the law in existence affords no protection which would a reasonable notice against the risk of a building being razed.

We think it is safe to say further that without levying any excise tax on the companies engaged in the business of insurance, the states and territories have each provided that all the expense attending upon the operation of the insurance should be borne by the companies. To this end we think there is now a single exemption.

That a law should be enacted which secures this protection to the citizens of the District is fact that no other country has done.

It is believed that every house and foreign vessel carrying cargo which takes any risks in the District on life or property is perfectly sound and able to pay any claim it may incur. But no one can tell whether it is or not.
